Yesterday, we received three small mine notices of intention, and we need to get clearances for them. All three of them are out of compliance because the operations were started before the notices were filed.

I understand Joelle has faxed you copies of the two notices for Quality Building Stone yesterday, and you should be getting the notice for Oil Tech today. With this e mail, I am attaching images of GPS maps I have created a copy for the Amis #1 Quarry in the Emma Park area of Utah county and for the Oil Tech operation. The files are called Amismap.jpg and oiltechmap.jpg, respectively.

Quality Building Stone's other site, the Martin Quarry, is on BLM land, and I understand from Dean Nyffeler of the Price office that the operator found some skeletons while they were digging in this area. I also understand that the operation has been shut down until this issue can be resolved, but we would appreciate any updates or insights you can give us.

Let me know if you have any questions about these operations.

Mr. Dykman:

Here is a new application for an oil shale research site located in:
NE1/4 NE1/4, Section 15, Township 9 South, Range 25 East
Uintah County, Utah.

The application will also be faxed to you for your 10-day review timeframe.

Thank you.

Joelle
